RARE PRINTS are those Moss prints that are no longer available at The Moss Portfolio distribution center, all the prints in each edition having been distributed to the various retail galleries authorized to sell the works of P. Buckley Moss. These print editions are therefore "sold out" at the distribution center, however some of the prints contained on this list may still be available in galleries. The degree of rarity is one of the factors in our assessment of value. Another factor is the comparative popularity of each print. The list has been prepared from data collected from active secondary market dealers and from our own experience.

There is no way of determining precisely the value of a print on the secondary market. The best indication of a value is the evidence of a sale, but even a sale is subject to influences particular to the circumstances of the individuals concerned. Our list, therefore, should only be used as a guide to values.

The list is of use for insurance valuations. It's use as a basis for determining purchase prices is at the discretion of each individual. The Moss Portfolio does not accept responsibility for transactions based on its contents. This is not an attempt by The Moss Portfolio to influence the secondary market prices.

Any person wanting to discuss the reason for a particular suggested valuation is welcome to write us about it.
